

GRAND JURY CITED TO WAVE OF CRIME

Judge Shackelford Issues Strong Instructions—Prevention Is Law Enforcement

"Gentlemen I admonish you not to pass the buck to the next grand jury. If you see anything to do, do it, but don't pass the buck to the next grand jury, as has been done in other counties."

Thus members of the Madison county grand jury were instructed by Judge W. R. Shackelford, after that body had been duly selected and sworn in Tuesday morning to serve during a part of the October term of Circuit court.

The attention of the grand jurors was called to the saturation of crime that has swept the country. Madison county not being an exception, during the past few months. While there were no individual cases cited, the attention of the jurors was called to the fact that abolition of crime devolved upon the courts and enforcement of laws, and that it was their duty to make investigations and return indictments wherein they found the situation justified such action.

Judge Shackelford's charge was the most elaborate, eloquent, earnest, and appealing that has ever been rendered in the Madison circuit court, according to the opinion of a number of well known attorneys who were present and expressed themselves after he had concluded.

The laws in every phase, were touched upon, as well as the duty of the jurors, and many new legislative measures were explained, as well as the fact that the grand jurors were not convicts but investigators, of crime, in the name of the people of the county, and that it was the duty of the grand jury to mete out justice. However, the law would become lax and crime continue unless there was a rigid enforcement and this was advocated in every sense of the word.

"The man who is intoxicated and in charge of an automobile, is more dangerous to the community than a man with a loaded pistol in his pocket," said Judge Shackelford, in explaining the law regarding the propelling of motor vehicles by persons under the influence of liquor.

The city and county officials, and especially the chief of police were commended upon extensive manner in which they have been handling such cases as came under their jurisdiction.

The jurors were informed that they should inform the sheriff of witnesses wanted, and they would, through subpoenas, be called upon to give information.

Misdemeanors were dwelt upon extensively, and larceny, murder, forgery, miscellaneous shooting etc., were given attention. Judge Shackelford stated that with one exception he had never known a man charged with stealing chickens to escape penal servitude; however, there were many charged with murder, forgery, shooting and the like who were let go.

"It is almost a sure shot that the man charged with stealing chickens," he said, "will be convicted, and it is almost as sure a shot on the other hand that those charged with a more serious offense will be able to escape going to prison, in many cases at least."

"A laxity of the law means a continuation of crime," he said. "The failure of the officials and those concerned and responsible not enforcing the law holds those persons, in a way, responsible for the condition of affairs and they are relied upon to see that the law is obeyed. There have been many instances where a man has been convicted of murder, but I don't remember of one instance where in that man has been indicted by grand jury for carrying a concealed weapon, and had it not been for the weapon the crime would never have been committed."

It is within the bounds of reason to believe that every man in the county who carries a concealed weapon, can be convicted. This would stop the killing. There may be fights, but that would be about the amount of it.

"If the law is not enforced, it shows that it is the desire not to have it enforced, and there will be a continuation of misdemeanors. I ask you to expedite matters and return indictments in such a manner that the cases can be investigated and heard and disposed of this term of court. According to the estimation of some people, there is no such thing as private ownership of property, the laws have become so lax in some regards."

At this juncture Judge Shackelford said that when he arose at his home this morning he found three men tearing up the sidewalk having been placed there at his own expense.

"This laxity of law goes to illustrate the manner and extent to which some people will go, believing they have a right to do as they please with any property, no matter whether it is private or public. So it lies at last with the grand jurors, for any community that supinely lies down under aggression and allows others to willfully destroy property of others, whether it be real estate or life, admits of this free feeling to be expanded and become more in evidence."

"If you gentlemen fail to do your duty, don't come around and argue that the laws are not being enforced, for it will then be too late. I state that there ever was a grand jury needed in Madison county, one is needed now and I persist and insist upon prevailing upon you doing your duty as jurors to the best of your ability."

The Grand Jurors
The list of men comprising the grand jury called upon to officiate at this term of court, which will perhaps go down in history as one of the most important sessions in Madison county, is as follows:

C. C. Coy, foreman; A. K. McCown, C. J. Turner, Ed W. Turner, J. B. Cox, L. A. Duerson, John Kidd, John Thomas, S. M. Cornelison, J. E. Moore, R. L. Potts, Suedder Pearson.

The petit jury was soon afterwards chosen and is composed of: John L. Combs, G. T. Griggs, Wm. L. Clark, George McKinney, John Doty, P. L. Willing, E. C. Cosby, Green Stacker, W. A. Aruckle, Burghin Cosby, H. C. James, Reed Jones, W. P. Dunbar, C. E. Douglas, D. B. Shackelford, Charles Cornelison, James Brown, C. H. Parks, C. B. Foley, Archie Dunn, Robert T. Dunn, William Wheeler, M. M. Broughton, Geo. G. Gentry, Guy Duerson, J. E. Parks, J. T. Reeves, Sherman Hunley, Chester Parks, B. F. Wilson.

The members of the grand jury were informed that arrangements would be made for their adjournment at times, and that anyone with reasonable excuse would be excused, however, Judge Shackelford stated it as his opinion that it was their duty to serve if possible; that they would be excused for a day or two at a time, and plans would be made to make it convenient all around. As a result of this, there was not a one asked to be excused from duty.

Upon the securing of the petit jurors, Judge Shackelford immediately got busy, and will have a number of criminal cases to dispose of while the grand jury is busy. He stated he did not expect to have any of the more important cases heard for a little time, owing to the fact that time would be required in preparation summoning witnesses, etc., after indictments had been returned. He will get to the civil docket, it is believed, yet this week when a number of cases will be disposed of.

However, the criminal record was begun and the case of John VanWinkle, charged with pointing deadly firearms, was the first one called. The witnesses were present and the attorneys reported they were ready for trial, whereupon the introduction of evidence was begun.

There are many people from this and other counties in the city as a result of the activity of the grand jury, and many who have been summoned to appear upon the first day. It is known that while there have been on indictments returned yet, there will be within a very short time and in some of the most important to be heard. One of these, it is known is that against Emil Lohrsch, against whom there is a formal charge of murder. Lohrsch, who is suffering from self-inflicted injuries, remains at the Patti A. Clay Infirmary in a serious condition. His physical as well as his mental condition is said to be precarious.

There are a number of other murder, forgery and shooting cases to be given attention, and it is expected indictments in most of them will be returned this week.

NEGRO WOMEN VOTE CUTS A BIG FIGURE

Republicans Lead In Registration In Richmond Up To Four O'clock—Figures

Unless there is a strong white democratic registration after four o'clock this afternoon, the negro women vote will carry the city of Richmond republican for the first time in a long time if the voters follow indications given in registration figures as gathered by the Daily Register up to 4 o'clock this afternoon.

At that hour the republicans had registered 1,168 as against 1,104 for the democrats. The heavy vote of the negroes in the two Francis, Normal, 28 and City Hall precincts are responsible for the closeness of the vote. In City Hall precinct 206 negro women registered as against only 98 negro men.

The registration as obtained up to 4 o'clock shows the following vote as between the republicans and democrats:

	Dem.	Rep.
Court House	261	92
Francis No. 4	72	197
City Hall	94	324
Water Tower	142	66
Francis No. 29	91	214
Normal No. 28	66	149
Normal, No. 3	182	47
Breck	196	79
	1104	1168

It was impossible to obtain a separation of the various elements of the registration when the Daily Register's report closed at 4 o'clock. Several precinct officers did not figure the white and colored and men and women separately in making up this preliminary table for the newspaper. The following is the registration in those that did separate the registration:

	City Hall
Republicans—White men 10; negro men 98; white women 10; negro women 206.
Democrats—White men 49; negro men 4; white women 41.
	Water Tower

JUDGE GILBERT OPENS CAMPAIGN

Democratic Candidate For Congress Scores Republicans For Exploiting the Soldier

Liberty, Ky., Oct. 4.—Opening his campaign for election to congress here today, Judge Ralph Gilbert, of Shelbyville, democratic candidate, scored the republican party for attempting to exploit the soldier, showed the hypocrisy of the republicans in claiming to be for the bonus for soldiers and failing to enact a law providing for such bonus, though in control of both houses of congress, endorsed the League of Nations, not only as a means of preserving the peace of the world, but of assuring stable markets for the farmer's products; declared himself for necessary relief for the soldiers as provided in the democratic platform and for which the democratic candidate for president stands and for the election of Senator Beckham, in whose interest he appealed to the women voters as one who had stood for all they had hoped and prayed for through so many years.

A large crowd heard Judge Gilbert and applauded him heartily, indicating an interest in the speech and in the election that bodes no good for the republican candidate for re-election.

Judge Gilbert was informed that the democrats of Casey county not only would vote, but that their women also would go to the polls.

Judge Gilbert declared that the League of Nations was a means of preserving the peace of the world. He said he thought it vastly more important to have a "League of Nations" than to waste time fighting for a perfect League of Nations. He said that every argument advanced against the League of Nations had been urged against the constitution of the United States, which, after all was only a league of nations, and that every one of these arguments had been demonstrated by time to be groundless. He said that every religious body and educational institution in the country which had adopted any resolution on the subject had endorsed the League of Nations and that it was important to the rest of the world that the United States enter it.

Judge Gilbert said that as long as America is an exporting nation she must necessarily be dependent upon the markets of the world for her prosperity and that the peace of the world must be depended on to protect and stabilize these markets. He showed how the League of Nations would thus be of immense benefit to the American farmer for years to come. He declared the low price of tobacco to be a direct result of the failure to stabilize markets of the world that would have followed the entry of the United States into the League of Nations and showed how the loss due to that failure had fallen upon the American tobacco growers.

Discussing the proposed bonus for soldiers of the world war, Judge Gilbert said that "the republicans had been guilty of purposely deceiving the soldiers." He asserted that he was in favor of the bonus plan proposed by the democratic platform on which Governor Cox stood and which he had promised to carry into effect if he is elected president. Judge Gilbert said, however, that he was not for any bonus plan that would keep 400,000 negroes idle for two years in the south at a time when their labor was most needed and that these negro soldiers had been better fed, better clothed and better housed while in the army than they were ever in their lives. He told the service men present that the only hope for them of obtaining recognition of their splendid patriotic service lay in the election of the democratic ticket, for the republicans, he said, had had both houses of congress and had not passed a bonus bill, the one which passed the house and for which his opponent voted, having been a piece of political camouflage intended purposely to deceive the soldiers. They could easily have passed a bonus bill, Judge Gilbert said, but had failed to do so.

Discussing the price of farm products and what the democratic administration had done for the farmer, Judge Gilbert asked: "Under what administration during all history have you received greater returns for your labor?" Judge Gilbert pointed to the fact that Senator Beckham was a product of the rural districts of Kentucky, being raised on a farm, and was familiar with the needs of his country constituents, while his opponent, while conceding him to be honorable and upright, is totally unfamiliar with the needs of the farmer and out of sympathy with their interests, having spent his entire business life in Cincinnati, though nominally a resident of Kentucky.

Judge Gilbert called on the women of Casey county not to permit Senator Beckham to be "crucified" for the sole reason that he helped to make possible the things for which they had hoped and prayed for years.

Democrats here said that Judge Gilbert had made a good impression on the voters in general and that his speech would have the effect of bringing out practically a solid vote of the women of Casey county.

CATTLE PRICE LOW, QUANTITY IS LARGE

Big Rush To Dispose of Stock Before Winter Is General Disposition Shown

The rush of stock to the city for the October sale which began Saturday continued Monday morning, with cattle selling by the wholesale, and low in price. There were numerous mixed lots, with prices lower than usual, but with steady sales throughout the day. Prices ranged owing to the quality. There were some good lots of steers, but the bulk was common stock. The stock yards were filled during the day Saturday, with sales continuing until a late hour.

Steady & Davis, large shippers had more than 100 head of mixed cattle which are to be disposed of at this sale. Sheep were in the minority, and hogs were apparently an unknown quantity.

While there is said to be an abundance of grass, there is a general disposition to sell. The producer is taking no chances. One of them stated he did not like the price, but wanted to take no chance on the future, and was desirous of getting rid of the stock. Others stated that while there were plenty of grazing lands of good quality, he wanted to sell. Some admitted that they lost money at the selling price prevailing, but the immense quantity of stock rendered the situation such as to induce many others to dispose of their stock instead of holding it over for a later market.

Owing to the condition of the concrete on First street, this thoroughfare between Main and Irvine streets was closed and there was keen disappointment among those who had stock on the streets. Col. Robert Walker, who had the sale of a large quantity of household furniture, procured a place near Main and First streets, where he conducted successful sales. Furniture sold at good prices, and there was a big demand, some bringing what would be termed good prices for new furniture.

The supply of jacks was especially large. There was a general disposition upon the part of owners to dispose of their stock and while sales were numerous, the prices were regarded as low.

EMIL LORISCH'S MIND BECOMES BLANK AT TIMES

A decided change has taken place in the mental faculties of Emil Lorsch, who shot and killed Mrs. Lucy Estes recently and then shot himself through the head, tearing away a large portion of his skull, since at times his mind becomes a blank. This condition was first discernible on Friday morning, attending physicians stated, and has been growing more pronounced since. At times the man remains for some time in a stupor, unable to recall or remember anything that transpires about him. It is claimed another operation will be necessary within a short time and that another large portion of skull will have to be removed.

PLAYING FOR PRIZES IS NOT GAMBLING

Says Circuit Judge Charles Kerr In Discussing Question Before His Grand Jury

An opinion by Circuit Judge Charles Kerr that the investigation of a grand jury into the matter of women playing games for prizes is not gambling will be of interest here, where this very question has been agitating society circles for several days. The Lexington Leader had this about the judge's statement:

The charge by a Lexington minister that the investigation of a grand jury into the matter of women playing games for prizes was dropped "when a list of thirty or more names of prominent women, church women, some of them, wives of professional men, one the wife of an official whose duty it is to enforce the laws," was refuted by Circuit Judge Charles Kerr in delivering his charge to the newly-empaneled grand jury.

This minister, Judge Kerr stated, "permitted his zeal to outstrip his better judgment and, I know, better intentions."

Judge Kerr said he assumed the incident was true and that if the women were cited for playing bridge for a prize that the matter was dropped by the grand jury—"not for the reason stated, but for the simple reason that it was not gambling and was not an offense in law."

Two reasons prompted Judge Kerr to refer to the incident, he said. "One is that the evil is so great we injure rather than help in our effort to minimize its baneful influences when we waste our ammunition on butterflies at a time when the fields are full of crows."

"The other is take advantage of the opportunity to correct what may be an error on the part of the public in regard to this form of amusement as well as to instruct you on the subject. The law is so plain, under the interpretation of nearly every state in the union that one possessing the infirmities usually attributed to the wayfarer man need not err."

Judge Kerr, in continuing his charge, pointed out that gambling necessarily involves the element of hazard and that the opportunity to win or lose must be present. "The most reliable of our law treaties says it is not gambling to engage in game where those participating play for a prize, a premium, a stake or a reward of any kind, provided those participating in the game do not contribute to the purchase of the prize awarded to the successful contestant."

Where the hostess furnishes the prize, it was pointed out, the contestants do not stand to lose anything, and, therefore, they have not offended against the gambling laws.

BIG DEMAND FOR MULE COLTS MONDAY

Mule colts were greatly in demand Monday. Several big buyers were here and some paid the top price for them. Lawton and Harvey, mule dealers of Pulaski county, were here from Somerset and bought a car load. The price didn't stop them when they wanted one of the little hybrids. They paid all the way from $65 to $125 for them. They also bought an aged mare mule for $350. This is the first trip these buyers have made to Richmond for court day trading and they were greatly pleased with the treatment they received on all sides.

J. Lee Murphy, one of the most prominent young Boyle county traders, was also here court day buying mules and bought a number.

James Newby sold a mule colt Monday to Chess White for $35.

Political Announcements

The Daily Register is authorized to announce the following candidates for office, subject to the action of the Democratic party.
FOR COUNTY JAILER
SAM HUNTER.

Addressing an audience of Louisville women, Mrs. Dasha Breckinridge, who has just returned from a trip to Geneva, asserted that there has been only one good thing born out of the World War. "That is the League of Nations," said Mrs. Breckinridge, whose husband is the editor of the Lexington Herald. "It is the duty of every woman to rally to its support."

Congressman King Swope thinks that Uncle Sam should have "gotten something" out of the war as well as England and France. He said so in his speech Monday, anyway; especially, he declared, if we are to assume the obligations of the League of Nations.

Now what does he think we should have received? Does he think it possible to pay the mothers in dollars and cents for the sacrifice of their brave boys; does he think that a few more acres of territory would recompense the great heart of America for the pain it sustained in the war waged solely to make life and liberty free to all?

If he does, he is simply proving his sympathy with those "scientific" republican managers who have been preaching, "Boys, Get the Money."

If America had been awarded some foreign territory, it would have required men and money to maintain the flag upon it. No, America wanted a thing material for her part in the war for humanity, and Swope should be ashamed of himself for even suggesting that the sacrifices could be compensated for by land or money. America fought to make the world safe for the common people, and no man is fit to represent this district in congress who would suggest that it was for a mercenary motive that we gave our boys and our money to win the great struggle.

Looking Better All the Time

The middle west on which the republicans had been so definitely relying is beginning to disintegrate. Illinois is in the throes of a bitter fight between the Thompson and Lowden factions. Wisconsin is confronted with an unexpected rupture because of the last minute filing of the nomination papers by James Thompson for senator. Thompson is a LaFollette Progressive and the effect of his announcement on the Lenroot camp has been like the explosion of a bomb shell.

In Illinois the fight between the Thompson and Lowden factions has become so bitter that republican party leaders have asked the rival candidates, John Oglesby and Len Small, to patch up a truce for the purpose of election.

It seems almost certain that these

Just Like Prairie of Iowa

Situated in good old Madison county, Kentucky, on the Berea-White's Station turnpike, (a good hard surfaced macadam road) about 4 miles west of Berea, Ky., 1 mile from White's Station, 9 miles from Richmond, Ky., known as the Judge John D. Goodlee farm containing the choice of 369 acres of this famous farm. On the premises on Wednesday, October 13, 10 a. m.

I will offer this farm to the highest and best bidder for the present owners, Moore Brothers.

LOCATION AND ENVIRONMENT

Situated as above stated on a fine macadam road, only one mile from railroad station and small village, post office and general store and flour mill. Four miles from Berea, which town has the best college in the state, 9 miles from Richmond a thriving little city of 10,000 people. In a good neighborhood among good people, churches, country school in about 1-2 mile, good roads, progressive farmers who raise fine stock, only about 1 mile from Mr. Harry Morgan, who raises and sells the Big Type Poland China hogs, known the state over. A better place to live is hard to find. We want to open new county road through the entire farm.

SOIL

A good rich, deep black loam with a lime stone bottom, will produce 1,500 to 2,000 pounds of high type burley tobacco per acre will make 50 to 75 bushels of corn per acre, grows wheat, red clover, oats, timothy and blue grass in abundance. 90 per cent of this farm is just like the prairie of Iowa, just ready for the tractor plow, lays nearly level with slope sufficient to drain. Just what your son likes to cultivate and what you will want when you see it.

SUB-DIVISION

We will establish a new county road through the farm and will make subdivision in tracts running from 25 acres to 100 acres and want to sell this farm so that the little man will have a chance to get some of this fine farm and have a home in the future. Maps and blue prints will be on hand at the sale and lines positively established, so that you will know exactly what you are buying. To parties wanting any piece or part of this farm we will meet you on the ground when survey is made and run the line just like you want it.

IMPROVEMENTS

Excellent 6 room residence most conveniently arranged and a good house, built a few years ago when good lumber could be obtained. Servant house, wash house, meat house, garage, wood shed, coal shed and every out building that could be desired. A large cow barn made and designed especially to keep your milk cows, a large combined stock and tobacco barn 44x34 feet with silo at side, and if I must say it, I think the best constructed barn I ever saw, all conveniently arranged for any kind of stock you wish to handle. A new tobacco barn that will hold 10 acres of big burley tobacco, galvanized roof and a good one. The fencing is the best wire fencing, hog tight, horse high and cattle strong.

IS THIS LAND WATERED?

No better watered farm to be found anywhere, pools, springs, spring branch, ponds and every arrangement for water.

PERSONAL PROPERTY

At the same time and place we will sell for Moore Brothers their personal property, consisting of 1 pair of 9 year old mare mules, 1 pair of 6-year-old mare mules, 1 sorrel walking mare, a good one, only 4 years old and holds a promising future, 6 good milk cows, hogs, all sizes, good quality and just what you want. Farming implements of all kinds, about 50 tons of excellent hay, 500 barrels of corn and numerous other items belonging to live progressive farmers. Also, 15,000 feet of lumber.

We want you to come and look over this farm, for you can never appreciate just what it is without seeing it. This land will stand close inspection and the undersigned will take time and go over this carefully with you, or Moore Brothers will show you the farm any day. Remember the day, the place, the thing—and come to the sale.

Stomach Out Of Order? Try NR

Nothing Better to Straighten You Out After Eating Too Much. Tonics Liver, Regulates Bowels. Acts Pleasantly. Guaranteed.

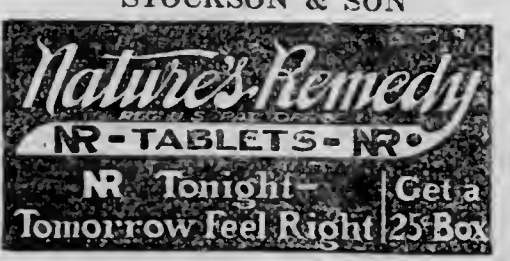

Many people eat too much every day and most eat much too much some days. That is why Americans suffer more than any people in the world from indigestion, biliousness and constipation.

With a little thoughtfulness and care, however, a great amount of suffering could be avoided and you'll never realize how true this is until you become one of the several million people of this country who keep a box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) constantly on hand and use it whenever indigestion, biliousness or constipation threatens.

Unlike laxative purges, cathartics, such as oil, calomel, etc., which merely force bowel action, Nature's Remedy exerts a beneficial influence upon the entire digestive and eliminative system—the stomach, liver, bowels and even the kidneys. Its purpose is to promote vigorous and harmonious action of all the organs that handle the food and body waste.

That is why the results which follow the use of Nature's Remedy are always a delightful surprise to those who first try it. The action is prompt and thorough, is as mild and gentle as pleasant and Nature herself, and the thorough cleansing of the body results brings a feeling of real relief and benefit such as no laxative pill or cathartic ever produced for anyone.

Get a 25c box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and try it. There is no risk in doing so, for it must give you greater relief and benefit than any liver or bowel medicine you ever used or money back instantly. It is sold, guaranteed and recommended by your druggist.

DO YOU LIKE FARMING?

"I guess you like the farm," he remarked to Elmer Schell, a young farmer who lives near Germantown, O.

We had just made the round of his level, well-kept farm and now we were leaning one on either side of the doorway gate in the shadow of a thrifty young cherry tree.

He didn't even smile at the inanity of my remark, but answered, "Yes, I like it mighty well. I have always liked it and now during the past few years since we've commenced to get some modern improvements I am suited entirely and guess I wouldn't change places with anybody I know. Of course, we have always been comfortable here; that is the house was good and convenient, the barns and fences have been kept up and there are plenty of outbuildings, but I did not realize until recently that we were missing something in the way of convenience that folks in town had."

"There are the lights. We had been using coal oil lamp and I had been carrying a lantern around the barn for years, but one day I found the electric light plant I showed you a while ago and figured that here was another of the good things I had been missing and bought and wired up the place.

"The lights in the house are just as good as if we lived in town. The lights outside, in the barns and about the pens do me more good, I imagine, than they would a man in town. Do you see that light over the stable door?" He pointed to the corner of the barn. "I can turn that on from the kitchen and light up the whole barn yard."

"Then we are saving a lot of time by using electric power to run our washing machine, churn, cream separator, sausage grinder and all the machines you know around here that we can hook up to a motor."

"That's a 1-4-horse power I showed you there in the basement; it's plenty big enough for the work we have for it to do and certainly is a time saver. One of these days I'll put in a pumping system to run with this power and that will save a lot more time that it means now to pump and carry water around the house and for the stock at the barn."

"The plant, as you saw, is very simple and easy to operate and we have electricity on hand at all times stored in the storage battery. The engine runs on kerosene and it takes about a gallon a week to give us all the light and power we need and heat for the electric flat iron that my wife uses for the weekly ironing.

"Yes," he smiled then and repeated, "I do like the farm—like everything that is a part of it—and I like it all the better on account of the modern conveniences we have here."

He didn't even smile at the inanity of my remark, but answered, "Yes, I like it mighty well. I have always liked it and now during the past few years since we've commenced to get some modern improvements I am suited entirely and guess I wouldn't change places with anybody I know. Of course, we have always been comfortable here; that is the house was good and convenient, the barns and fences have been kept up and there are plenty of outbuildings, but I did not realize until recently that we were missing something in the way of convenience that folks in town had."

"There are the lights. We had been

using coal oil lamp and I had been carrying a lantern around the barn for years, but one day I found the electric light plant I showed you a while ago and figured that here was another of the good things I had been missing and bought and wired up the place.

"The lights in the house are just as good as if we lived in town. The lights outside, in the barns and about the pens do me more good, I imagine, than they would a man in town. Do you see that light over the stable door?" He pointed to the corner of the barn. "I can turn that on from the kitchen and light up the whole barn yard."

"Then we are saving a lot of time by using electric power to run our washing machine, churn, cream separator, sausage grinder and all the machines you know around here that we can hook up to a motor."

"That's a 1-4-horse power I showed you there in the basement; it's plenty big enough for the work we have for it to do and certainly is a time saver. One of these days I'll put in a pumping system to run with this power and that will save a lot more time that it means now to pump and carry water around the house and for the stock at the barn."

"The plant, as you saw, is very simple and easy to operate and we have electricity on hand at all times stored in the storage battery. The engine

runs on kerosene and it takes about a gallon a week to give us all the light and power we need and heat for the electric flat iron that my wife uses for the weekly ironing.

HORSE SALE SLOW;

PRICES VERY LOW

There were horse sales here and there, the October sales being reported as large, although prices were low. Owing to the condition of the streets and the prohibited use of street especially, these "were" sales conducted exclusively on Water street, and on North First street, north of Irvine. There were also sales at Second and Irvine streets and at places along East Main street where sales were never known before. Some of the salesmen declared they were handicapped owing to the inability to get the sales concentrated. They allege the various sales corners kept the crowds moving and prevented a favorable gathering at any of the sales corners. There were jacks galore, many of which had finished their work on the farm for the summer, disposed of, most of the prices being low. The disposition upon the part of the farmer to rid himself of the work and expense of wintering the animals is said to have been one of the chief causes for the low prices. There were many colts returned to the farms, farmers refusing to take the highest bid in a number of cases.

CORN AND TOBACCO

BRINGING MUCH WORK

Farmers of Madison county are exchanging one of the busiest periods of their lives, they claim, since the recent cool weather has rendered corn fit to cut, and there is a wrestling match to get the tobacco out of the way to get a start at corn cutting. The latter will be in full blast in the county, farmers state, within a few weeks. Most of the tobacco has been cut, although in some localities there is considerable to be seen in the fields. There will be a great amount of corn cut, reports have it, since there will not be the usual "hogging down" relative to corn. Most of the corn, and there is a greater yield than usual, will be husked and cared for since the price since the farmer to look after this subject. There is still a heavy demand for Madison county corn at a good price.

HOPEFUL FOR WHEAT
Flouring for wheat is another extreme indulgence of the farmer here, many admitting they will have the greatest average of years he could expect. The price as established during the summer has caused many to pay more attention to wheat, it is said, and less to side lines which are speculative to a great degree.

MORNING TO YOU, PETE!

Kansas City, Mo.
—late at night!

Who crossed my trail in the hotel this afternoon but "Long Sam" Weaver! Last time I saw Sam to chin to was that night of July 15th when our old 38th clinched the "Rock of the Marne" title! And, I guess you won't forget that night, old glue pot—everybody was stuck on you!

Sam and I fought the war all over again and dug into our Camel supplies like it was "free commissary". Sam never will get all done talking about that session when we couldn't move a hair without getting a close shave—and, no eats or smokes!

Sam has some song about how good Camels were to him in France—and ever since! That bird has the warble! Why, Camel talk trickles off his tongue like water flows over Pa Smith's mill dam! Pete, old carpet tack, Sam has a head all right!

"Camels certainly are friendly", was the way Sam put it in his old-time vigor-vim style. "You know as well as I do", he added, "that no other cigarette has such a mild, mellow body. And, there's no harshness or tiredness of taste in a million Camels! No objectionable odor, no lingering unpleasant aftertaste! Summing it all up, Shorty, I'll say Camels are the greatest cigarettes in the world at any price!"

Headed southeast tonight, with Winston-Salem, N. C. my first port of call. Some jump from K. C.! Pete, it's Winston-Salem where Camels are made! GET ME!

Sincerely

Shorty.

Kirksville Suburban Home

It is seldom that we are able to offer you a chance equal to this one. Situated between the villages of Kirksville, Ky., and Round Hill, Ky., on the Kirksville and Kentucky River turnpike known as the John W. Turner property to be offered for sale to the highest and best bidder on Saturday, October 9, at 10 a. m.

Kirksville is a town of about 500 people, has a bank, general stores, drug store, Lodge Hall, garage, meat shop, blacksmith shop and a live progressive town, just one mile north of Kirksville—most space between these towns built up in homes, is the town of Round Hill, a thriving little village that can boast of nearly as many inhabitants as Kirksville, has its blacksmith shop, garage, three general stores, grist mill.

KIRKSVILLE HIGH SCHOOL

About half way between these towns and within one-fourth of a mile of the property we are going to offer, is the Kirksville High School. Said school is accredited and gives a child a 12th grade education without costing the parent or property owner any tax except the regular county school tax. A handsome brick structure that is a credit to any community. This neighborhood is noted throughout Madison county for its high morals and a hunger among its citizenship to build and mold into the minds of its children a desire for higher and better things. A real place to rear and educate your children.

ACREAGE AND SOIL

Only 34 acres of this dandy little farm, and this of good land, a good portion being of that high type sand-stone soil which is noted for its wonderful production and high priced burley tobacco.

SUB-DIVISION

There are many people who would like to own this home, but who feel that it is too large for their pocketbooks, so I am going to divide this place into three or four small tracts to permit you to get just the number of acres you want.

IMPROVEMENTS

A modern six-room cottage house, nearly new, with a pretty front yard, young shade trees growing and in all just a pretty place. A four acre tobacco barn with galvanized roof and nearly new. Fencing is of the best and all nearly new.

If you want a good place to live, where you can make easy money and where your wife will always wear a smile and greet you pleasantly when you come about, and where your children can get real life and receive education without being put to any additional expense, I have the place.

We will be glad to take all interested parties over the land before the sale and will be glad to cut off any piece or part of this farm and offer separately if you are interested and will see John W. Turner, at Kirksville, Ky., or

SUGAR PRICE MAKES SORGHUM POPULAR

Few Remaining Mills Present
Busy Scenes These Days—
Big Price For Product

There are very few sorghum mills in operation in Madison county compared to a few years ago—a fact much regretted by many. The few yet to be found present busy scenes these days, since what cane there is produced is being necessarily concentrated to fewer points as the mills decrease in number.

Luke Sewell, residing on the Dennis farm in the eastern part of the county, is said to be one of the busiest of men, since he is the owner of a mill that has not ceased operations, it is reported, since the first of the crop of cane appeared.

There are many visitors to his plant, and many a "sample" tasted. Many predict there will be more cane raised another year. This, it is said, is due to the high price of sugar. The same reason is advanced for the increase in raising of honey bees in this part of the state. Sorghum molasses, the old fashioned kind, only to be had at such places, is becoming more and more appreciated, and there is much ground adaptable to the growth of cane in this and adjoining counties.

The product is bringing good prices, and the unadulterated variety is said to be difficult to be had, since there are few raisers of cane and when it reaches "certain centers," reports have it, the product is "thinned." One man stated that he could readily dispose of 500 gallons of molasses if he had them, and signified his intention of raising "some cane" next year. It is claimed that should there be a big cane production in this county, there would have to be a number of additional mills established to take care of the product, due to the fact that the year fast disappearing.

BOOTLEGGERS MUST NOW PROVIDE TWO LICENSES

(By Associated Press)
Louisville, Ky., Oct. 5th.—Elwood Hamilton, collector of internal revenue for Kentucky, is preparing to make bootleggers of liquor obtain distiller and retail liquor dealer licenses, he has announced. The new state dry law makes license collection possible.

Under this plan, 100 persons arrested here since July 1 for alleged violation of liquor laws would have a bill of about $2,200 each, including the retail license of $25 with $1,000 tax penalty of 25 per cent for failure to make return, and double penalty levied under the Volstead act.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

About the first thing Monday morning at the office of County Clerk Jennings Maupin was the listing of licenses to the following: Walter White, 28, and Martha Hopkins, 27, of Richmond; James O'Donnell, 34, of Versailles; and Lelia Stackley, 30, of Richmond.

COAL BEING PUT IN

Two car loads of coal have been provided for the court house and jail for winter use and is being put in the bins, since its use is expected at anytime. A greater supply will be on hand later. However, the two car loads, Jailor William Burgess says, will be enough to insure warmth should cold weather prevail now at any time.

NEGRO, 110 YEARS OLD, RICHMOND, RESIDENT

Thomas Woodson, a negro living at Stone, Ky., has just celebrated his 110th birthday. He insists he is the oldest person in Kentucky, if not in the whole country.

When told that "Uncle Johnny" Shell, of Greasy Creek, claims to be 181, the aged negro shook his head and declared, "It can't be done, suh; it can't be done."

"Uncle Tom" gets about fairly well with the aid of a cane, but his great age is revealed in his appearance and every movement. He was born in Richmond, but has lived in various communities in Eastern Kentucky for many years.

He says he was too old to take active part in the war between the states.

GLASS INDUSTRY SEEN FOR STATE

Seemingly Inexhaustible Supply of Valuable Glass-Sand Is Found In Various Parts

Dr. C. H. Richardson, who occupies the chair of mineralogy at Syracuse University, who has been making extensive investigation of the sands and other minerals in this and other parts of Kentucky, is of the opinion there are wonderful possibilities for Kentucky becoming one of the leading glass making states of the union, owing to the fact that there seems to be an inexhaustible supply of valuable glass sand to be found within its confines.

The reports, which have been made to the state officials, are attracting considerable attention and already capitalists are interested in movements looking towards the establishment of glass industries of various natures. The discovery is said to have been made in not only one but several parts of the state, and, according to reports, there will be much land made valuable as a result. The sand is said to abound from Louisville to Pineville, as well as at Leitchfield, Louisa, Paintsville and numerous other towns. There are also said to be splendid building sites procurable in many places and which are suitable to the glass making industry.
Moreover, there is an abundance of natural gas in some sections which will greatly add to the matter of manufacture.

In this connection, it might well be said that West Virginia is now producing about 60 per cent of the glass being made in this section of the country and some of the sand is being shipped from as far west as the western part of Illinois. Thus the importance of this find of the glass sand in Kentucky can be realized. A report of the mineral survey of the state which is being prepared will be issued as soon as possible and it is said upon good authority that little time will be lost in the establishment of the glass industry upon a large scale.

dicine it is," says Mr. T. L. Bostier, a well-known farmer of this place. Mr.
Bostier has passed his three-score-and-tenth year, but declares his health still is good, "and I can say Black-Draught did its part."

"Where there is a lot of malaria, a liver medicine is a necessity, and I have never found one better than Black-Draught," continues the Oklahoman. "It is one that I know to be reliable. I sure use it for the liver, stomach, constipation, indigestion, and it has done me a world of good. We use it for the family, and it gives satisfaction."

"Most trouble, or sickness, comes from the liver, and if taken in time can be avoided. That is why I use Black-Draught as I do. I am much pleased with results obtained."

Theodore's Black-Draught is purely vegetable. It acts on the bowels, gently stimulating the liver, and helps increase the normal flow of bile into the intestines. It assists in the digestion of food, and relieves constipation in a prompt and natural way.

Ask your druggist for a package today. Insist on Theodore's. NC-139
